

Ready to realise

your potential?

The Army is a dynamic, supportive and future-focused organisation that offers a broad range of roles. If you are ready for the challenge, we'll transform you from a driven and ambitious person into a leader and commander with an exciting career.

As an Army Officer you will be given significant leadership and management responsibilities, and will learn to command and mentor highly-trained soldiers, earn their trust and respect, and motivate them to excel in their jobs.

Today's

Who we are

Built on a long tradition of courage, initiative, teamwork and respect, the Australian Army is a versatile, state-of-the-art organisation. We are tasked with maintaining the security of Australia and providing critical support to communities in need, both here and overseas.

- 40,000+ expertly trained soldiers and officers
- 14,000+ part-time Army reservists
- 15 major bases nationwide plus 50+ reserve units
- 14,000+ specialist military vehicles and helicopters

What we do

Expertly trained, and equipped with advanced weaponry, vehicles and technology, we carry out a range of military duties on behalf of the Australian Government.

Working alongside the Navy and Air Force we are a member of a joint force that's responsible for executing essential tasks such as:

- Deterring, denying and defeating attacks on Australia
- Defending our borders and national interests
- Providing Government with options to deal with potential threats
- Supporting and training our regional partners
- Supporting international security initiatives
- Contributing to disaster-relief efforts
- Supporting civilian agencies

How we recruit

We welcome diversity and are committed to equality. Regardless of background and gender, every Army Officer enjoys the same job choices, pay rates, and professional and personal development. Recruitment and ongoing career advancement opportunities are based solely on potential, effort and achievement.

(About the Army

Better benefits

In the Army you'll enjoy job satisfaction, unique challenges, memorable experiences and amazing camaraderie – and that's just the start. No other employer can offer this mix of benefits:

Career benefits ^

- icer belieffts (
- Fully paid military and role specific training
- Opportunities for degree sponsorship
- Management and leadership training
- Clear avenues for career development

Financial benefits $

- A good salary plus allowances
- Generous superannuation
- Free medical and dental
- Subsidised accommodation

Lifestyle benefits 414

- Supportive team environment
- Good work / life balance
- Free sports and fitness facilities
- Travel and leave entitlements

Welcome to a workplace like no other. The Army offers a range of benefits rarely found in civilian employment.

A good balance

In most officer roles your standard working hours may be similar to those you'd encounter in a comparable civilian job – though much will depend on what is required of you as a leader to achieve specific objectives.

Deployments will require you to be more flexible and probably work longer hours. However, the challenges you face and the opportunities you are given make these activities particularly rewarding, which is part of their appeal.

In general, we're committed to providing our leaders with the flexibility they need to enable a good balance between their duties and personal life.

Social facilities

You'll make friends for life in the Army, enjoying the social and entertainment facilities provided on base, with social clubs, bars, game rooms and more. You'll find the food we serve is excellent too, with nutritious and plentiful meals that can be catered to your dietary needs.

Free sports and fitness facilities

Where else would you be paid to stay fit? Keeping up your fitness levels will be a part of your working day as an Army Officer, rather than an expense in your own time. Most bases feature multicode sports fields and excellent fitness facilities, and you'll be able to join teams playing just about anything you want to, along with clubs catering for a variety of hobbies.

Time off and away

Your regular working hours will give you plenty of opportunity to get out and about with family and friends outside the Army. Plus you'll have access to many types of leave including annual, field (compensating for time spent on exercises and deployments), maternity/paternity, parental and compassionate – with travel provided when possible.

(Army lifestyle

Get a job that doesn't need a degree

Officer Entry

0E

Start your Army career with world-class leadership and military training at the Royal Military College – Duntroon (RMC), in Canberra, ACT.

- Requires Year 12 passes in English and three other subjects
- Involves 18 months of full-time paid training
- Equips you to lead a platoon of soldiers in one of these 'General Service Officer' roles:
  - Armoured Officer
  - Artillery Officer
  - Helicopter Pilot
  - Catering Officer
  - Electrical and Mechanical Officer
  - Engineering Officer
  - Infantry Officer
  - Intelligence Officer
  - Health Officer
  - Military Police Officer
  - Ordnance Officer
  - Signals Officer
  - Transport Officer

Officer training at RMC'

Australian Defence Force Academy

ADF/

Acquire military skills in parallel with a nationallyrecognised degree, studying in Canberra alongside recruits from all three Services.

- Provides a degree from the University of New South Wales
- Is followed by 12 months of military training at RMC
- Pays a salary while training and studying
- Leads to an officer role on graduation
- Offers degrees such as:
  - Bachelor of Arts
  - Bachelor of Business
  - Bachelor of Engineering (various courses)
  - Bachelor of Science
  - Bachelor of Technology (various courses)

Defence University Sponsorship

US

Apply for a professional Army role while studying at any accredited university for the opportunity to have part of your studies sponsored.

- For those part way through a job-relevant degree course
- Pays a salary plus remaining course fees while completing studies
- Exact nature and length of sponsorship varies by job and service
- Military training ranges from 9 to 41 days depending on role
- Leads to a 'Specialist Service Officer' role on graduation, in areas such as:
  - Dentistry
  - Engineering
  - Medicine (all disciplines)
  - Nursing
  - Pharmacy

'Defence University Sponsorship'

Graduate Entry

GRAD

Bring your recognised degree to the Army and hit the ground running in a varied and rewarding 'Specialist Service Officer' role.

- Requires a job-relevant degree
- Military training ranges from 9 to 41 days depending on role
- Open to recent or mid-career graduates in fields such as:
  - Business
  - Chaplaincy
  - Dentistry
  - Engineering
  - IT
  - Law
  - Medicine

If your degree is not relevant to the Army role you're interested in, choose Officer Entry.

'Army Graduate Entry'

Reserve

RES

Find a fulfilling new outlet for your skills and qualifications or try something completely different, working part-time in support of Army exercises and operations.

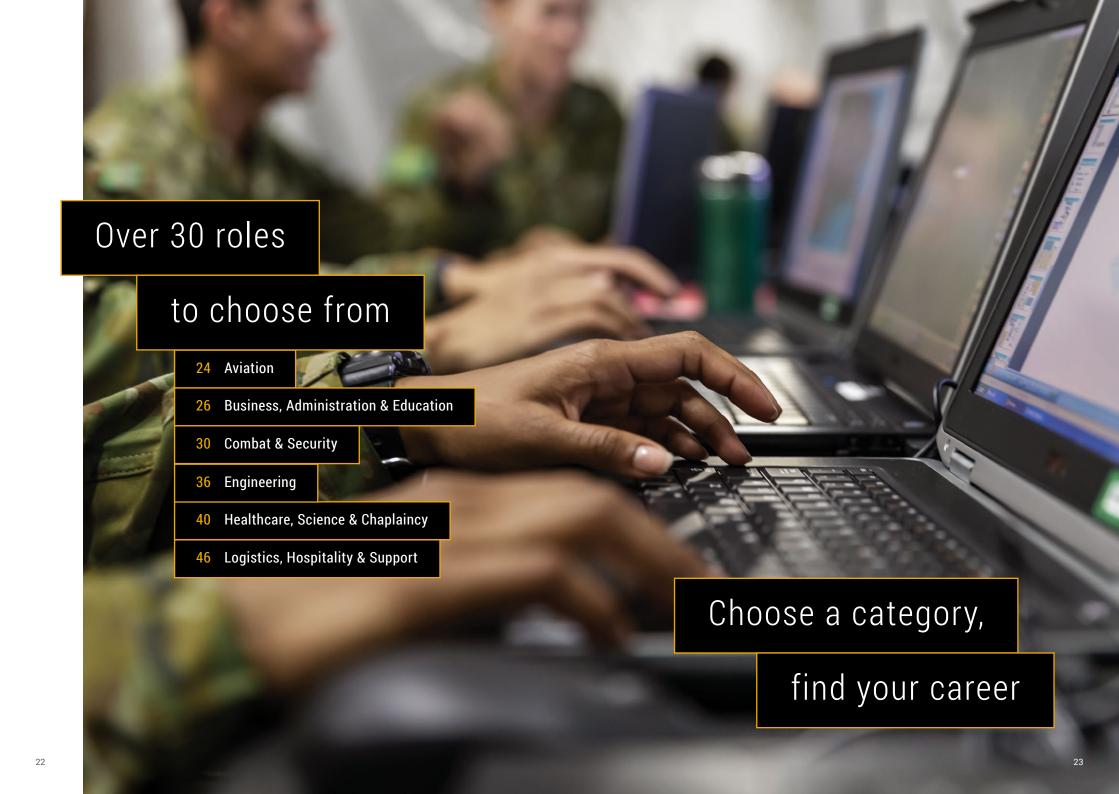

- Serve between 20 and 100 days each year
- Rewarding work and a flexible commitment
- Leadership and vocational training

19

Entry requirements and training periods vary by job

(Army Reserve

Aviation

Helicopter Pilot

As an Army Helicopter Pilot you'll be trained to take control of high-performance helicopters such as the Chinook and Tiger armed reconnaissance helicopter. One day could see you transporting troops and supplies to an exercise, and the next could see you involved in search and rescue or a medical evacuation.

You don't need previous flying experience to apply for this exciting role. Just ambition, drive, good fitness and coordination, plus a passion for adventure.

ENTRY METHODS

Please see the Engineering section on page 39 for details on aviation engineering roles.

'Army <job title>'

Accountant

As a large and complex national organisation, the Army has a very significant budget to manage. In this role many of your duties will be familiar, such as preparing budgets, financial statements, cash flow analyses and accounting documents – but you'll be operating in a dynamic military environment.

You'll also work closely with Army commanders providing financial advice and reports, and as an officer you'll take a leadership role, training personnel for employment in field cash offices.

ENTRY METHODS

)E

NDFA

DUS

RAD RE

Education Officer

Army training is world-renowned. For qualified teachers, this position provides exciting new challenges as you work in areas such as developing training programs, designing computer-based learning materials, and coaching literacy, numeracy and English as a second language.

The skills you learn are in high demand both in and out of the Army, and you'll have the option to pursue a variety of routes including policy development and counselling on educational matters.

ENTRY METHODS

OE

ADFA

DUS

GRAD

(Army <job title>

Lawyer

In this legal job with a distinct difference, one week you may be engaged in civil law and the next could see you undertaking a fascinating variety of military-specific legal tasks at home or overseas.

This role is a great opportunity for barristers and solicitors to broaden their experience working in areas such as international law, copyright law, environmental law, workplace health and safety, the management of government contracts, employment law and anti-discrimination law.

| ENTRY METHODS | 0E | ADFA | DUS | GRAD | RES |
|---------------|----|------|-----|------|-----|
|---------------|----|------|-----|------|-----|

Public Relations

As one of Australia's largest employers, the Army has a significant public profile that requires careful management. In charge of a small dynamic team that's critical to the public perception of the Army, you'll develop communication strategies, conduct media awareness training and advise commanders.

You'll also gather and manage Army video and imagery, prepare press releases, and liaise with the media – as well as enjoy plenty of opportunities for travel as you fulfil escort, and support duties.

| ENTRY METHODS | OE | ADFA | DUS | GRAD | RES |
|---------------|----|------|-----|------|-----|
|---------------|----|------|-----|------|-----|

.8

Armoured Officer

Your training for this job will give you the skills and resolve to command soldiers operating some of the world's most formidable armoured fighting vehicles.

In this prestigious and highly respected combat leadership role you'll be responsible for the deployment of heavyweight military vehicles such as the Abrams main battle tank, the armoured personnel carrier and the Australian light armoured vehicle.

ENTRY METHODS OE ADFA DUS GRAD RES

Artillery Officer

Artillery provides the Army with long-range fire support and air defence. In this demanding role you'll be in charge of the soldiers aiming and firing heavy guns and anti-aircraft missile systems.

Systematic surveillance will also be part of your remit, using extended range ground surveillance detachments and latest generation unmanned aerial vehicles to acquire battlefield information, monitor hostile forces and identify enemy targets.

ENTRY METHODS OE ADFA DUS GRAD RES

Q 'Army <job title>'

Infantry Officer

This prestigious role will test your mental and physical toughness, as you take command of elite troops in what can be extremely challenging, hazardous and remote environments.

You can expect to spend your first two years in an infantry battalion leading a platoon of soldiers. Your job will be to oversee the welfare and capability of soldiers, utilise military tactics in exercise and combat situations, and manage the complex logistics of being a major fighting force.

ENTRY METHODS

GRAD

Military Police Officer

In common with all large communities, the Army operates within a formal legal framework. In this dynamic role your task will be to take charge of the soldiers enforcing that framework through general policing, mobile support, and if necessary, detention of those breaking either Army or civilian laws.

You and your team will investigate crimes, handle traffic incidents, provide physical security and maintain law and order on and off base, on exercises and on deployments.

ENTRY METHODS

ADFA DUS

GRAD

'Army <job title>'

Intelligence Officer

Whether serving in a war zone or on an exercise in Australia, Army intelligence is critical to developing effective military strategy and operations.

Your mental agility will be tested in this dynamic role, as you collect, analyse and disseminate information from a variety of sources. The subsequent advice you provide to commanders will inform objective decisionmaking and proportionate military responses.

ENTRY METHODS

ADFA

DUS

GRAD

RES

Signals Officer

Good communication has always been essential to the Army. Working at the heart of the action you'll be responsible for facilitating and protecting communications between military elements in the battlespace, ensuring commanders at all levels can pass information rapidly, with minimal interference.

This role will call upon your technical expertise as you command soldiers managing a variety of communication systems, including radio, fibre optic, microwave and satellite.

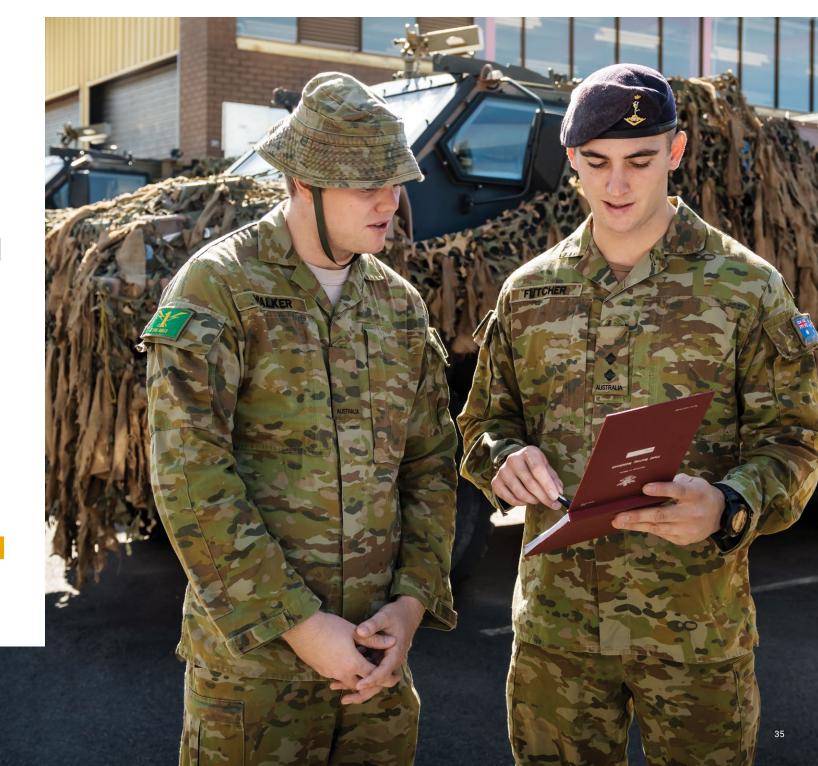

ENTRY METHODS

DUS

GRAD

RES

(Army <job title>

Aeronautical Engineer

Take charge of a team of highly-trained tradespeople and technicians, looking after the maintenance, logistics and engineering management of one of the most exciting aircraft fleets in Australia.

In this broad-based engineering role you'll work in varied operational environments as the technical expert responsible for the airworthiness of iconic aircraft such as the Black Hawk, Chinook, MRH90 and Tiger armed reconnaissance helicopter.

ENTRY METHODS OE ADFA DUS GRAD RES

Avionics Engineer

Assume responsibility for the state-of-the-art electronic systems that control our transport, armed reconnaissance and multi-purpose helicopters, keeping them in optimal working order.

You and the technicians under your command will fit, inspect, maintain and repair the sophisticated instrumentation, flight control and navigation systems, communication equipment and radar used to keep our technologically-advanced fleet at peak military effectiveness.

ENTRY METHODS OE ADFA DUS GRAD RES

(Army <job title>'

Aerospace Software Engineer

Employ state-of-the-art concepts and cuttingedge methodology in the specification, testing and documentation of large-scale software systems for advanced military helicopters.

Employed in operational environments, the maintenance, logistics and management functions you engage with will be critical to ensuring the airworthiness and availability of aircraft such as the Black Hawk, Chinook, MRH90 and Tiger armed reconnaissance helicopter.

ENTRY METHODS OE ADFA DUS GRAD RES

Electrical and Mechanical Officer

The Army operates an extraordinary array of high-tech hardware and equipment, from tanks and armoured vehicles to watercraft, weapon systems, radios and radar. By leading the teams that look after the electrical and mechanical maintenance of these assets you'll make a critical contribution to military effectiveness.

You'll experience great variety in this role, managing technical tradespeople and having the opportunity to get involved with project design and development.

ENTRY METHODS OE ADFA DUS GRAD RES

Electrical Engineer

Manage the repair and maintenance of high-tech military hardware like tanks, trucks, artillery weapon systems, armoured personnel carriers, radios, radar and missile systems.

Employed in operational environments in command of as many as 50 technicians and tradespeople, you'll support Army capability in areas ranging from infantry to aviation. In addition to the practical side of your role, you will be responsible for procurement and resource management.

ENTRY METHODS OE ADFA DUS GRAD RES

Engineering Officer

Mobility is vital to Army operations, as is resourcing the infrastructure required to achieve it. This job will see you managing an elite team that constructs and maintains roads, bridges and airfields, and provides services such as water, power generation and waste removal.

You'll also get involved with counter-mobility (impeding hostile forces), demolition, building and bridge camouflage, community liaison, and the provision of terrain assessment advice.

ENTRY METHODS OE ADFA DUS GRAD RES

Q 'Army <job title>'

Chaplain

The Army is a large, complex community with diverse spiritual needs – so for qualified Ministers this advisory role takes pastoral care to a rewarding new level.

Army personnel are encouraged to practice their own religion, but it's not always possible to provide ministry to each person's beliefs in fixed places of worship. This role provides you with the unique challenge of administering spiritual support regardless of faith and location, whilst remaining an active member of your denominational church organisation.

| ENTRY METHODS | OE | ADFA | DUS | GRAD | RES |  |
|---------------|----|------|-----|------|-----|--|
|---------------|----|------|-----|------|-----|--|

Dentist

Join a dental practice where the provision of high quality care is the sole objective; and with the extra dimension of working in a modern clinic one month, and under canvas on deployment the next.

In addition to providing the full range of dental treatments and services, as an Army Officer you'll take on a leadership role too. Responsible for the training, welfare and discipline of the soldiers under your command, you will be challenged and rewarded by this dental care job with a difference.

| ENTRY METHODS OE | ADFA | DUS | GRAD | RES |
|------------------|------|-----|------|-----|
|------------------|------|-----|------|-----|

Doctor

Apply your skills and training to a wide variety of medical disciplines, including primary care, occupational medicine, trauma and rehabilitation, tropical medicine and sports medicine.

In this challenging and rewarding position your well-equipped surgery could be anywhere from an Army base to a deployed field hospital, across Australia or overseas – and you will be given excellent opportunities to advance your career studying specialist medical areas of your choice.

Environmental Health Manager

This is a particularly interesting and challenging environmental health role as you'll be responsible for maintaining healthy working environments in barracks, as well as on exercises and deployments.

The workplace health strategies you plan, coordinate and implement will cover water supplies, food safety, sanitary facilities, waste management, pest eradication and disease control. You'll also have the rewarding job of providing advice and services in support of disaster-relief operations.

ENTRY METHODS

ADFA

DUS

GRAD RES

Health Officer

In this exciting and challenging role it will be your responsibility to coordinate the collection, evacuation, treatment and rehabilitation of sick and injured soldiers. You will also handle the complex logistics of ensuring medical specialists have all the resources they need to treat patients in the field.

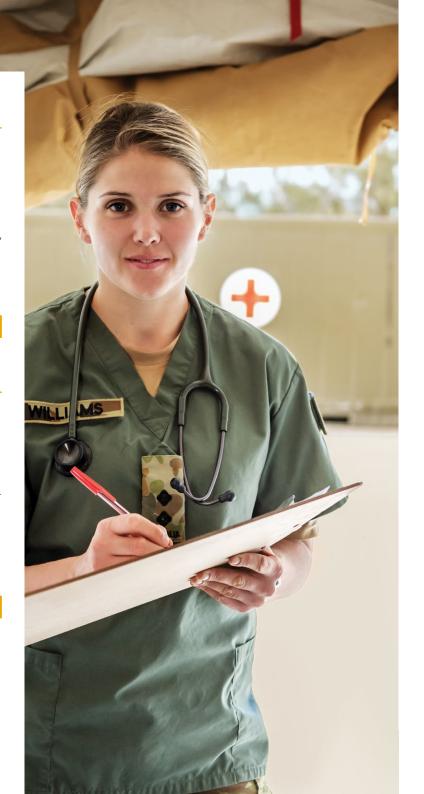

Previous medical experience is not required as you will receive full training. You'll gain management and leadership skills too, to prepare you for taking command of a team of combat-ready soldiers on exercises and deployments.

ENTRY METHODS

DUS GRAD

RES

Nurse

Carry out a broad range of primary care, clinical management and medical administration duties - and work in command positions that will develop your skills and knowledge beyond the purely clinical.

Working anywhere from a well-equipped military hospital to deployed environments at home and overseas, the situations you encounter daily will test your resolve, initiative and capacity to adapt to challenging and changing circumstances - making this a uniquely rewarding healthcare role.

ENTRY METHODS

ADFA

0E

DUS

GRAD

RES

Medical Scientist (Pathology or Research)

Laboratory specialists form part of the considerable medical resources of the Army, and work across two key roles.

Pathologists provide a broad range of services in our hospitals and on deployment, including biochemical, microbiological and haematological testing. Research Scientists are tasked with exploring ways to give Army personnel the best protection against malaria and other diseases.

ENTRY METHODS

ADFA

DUS

GRAD

Pharmacist

As the manager of an Army pharmacy you'll find that many of your duties will be familiar, such as dispensary services, stock control and the management of equipment and consumables. But your workplace could be anywhere from a well-resourced clinic to a mobile military medical facility on deployment.

Part of your training will include a logistics component, enabling you to ensure temporary medical facilities can be fully resourced at a moment's notice, wherever in the world they are required.

ENTRY METHODS

Physiotherapist

The Army is a highly active mobile organisation made up of personnel who are required to maintain high levels of fitness. As such, Army Physiotherapists enjoy a great variety of work.

Working in both military hospitals and temporary facilities on exercises and deployments, you'll provide care to pre- and post-operative cases, help rehabilitate patients after extensive surgery or illness, and work in the area of sports injury management and prevention.

| ENTRY METHODS | 0E | ADFA | DUS | GRAD | RES |
|---------------|----|------|-----|------|-----|
|---------------|----|------|-----|------|-----|

Psychologist

Play an important role in looking after the psychological wellbeing of soldiers and officers operating in challenging situations.

In this highly varied role you'll get involved in the counselling of personnel, critical incident mental health support, clinical assessments and intervention, occupational analysis and supervisory roles.

| ENTRY METHODS | 0E | ADFA | DUS | GRAD | RES |  |
|---------------|----|------|-----|------|-----|--|
|---------------|----|------|-----|------|-----|--|

Radiographer

In this role you're likely to enjoy much more variety than most of your civilian counterparts, and will work everywhere from well-equipped hospitals to temporary facilities supporting military operations overseas.

The X-ray and ultrasound equipment you use will be amongst the most technically-advanced static and portable equipment available – and where you operate them will vary enormously, requiring you to work in potentially challenging conditions.

(Army <job title>

Logistics,

Hospitality & Support

Catering Officer

In this managerial role you will be in charge of organising specialist catering support for everything from formal fine dining to provisioning hundreds of troops on exercises and deployments.

Your training will cover hygiene, nutrition, food planning and kitchen management in a variety of working environments – and you'll be responsible for the sourcing and effective use of rations.

Ordnance Officer

Keeping the Army supplied with food, fuel, clothing, weapons, medical supplies and more is a massive logistical challenge. In this major supply chain management role you'll be in charge of a dynamic team working in challenging environments, looking after our support network.

Having acquired skills that are highly sought-after both in and out of the Army, you'll manage warehousing, contingency strategies, supply control, logistics administration and staff training.

ENTRY METHODS OE ADFA DUS GRAD RES

Army Officer Training

General Service Officers: 18 months

ADFA graduates: 12 months

Specialist Service Officers: 9 to 41 days

Reservists: varies by role

Royal Military College – Duntroon (RMC), ACT Reserve General Service Officers train at Kapooka, Wagga Wagga, NSW

RMC is one of the world's finest and most respected military training institutions. It takes driven and ambitious people from all walks of life and transforms them into the leaders of tomorrow.

General Service Officers – including ADFA graduates – leave RMC with the skills, knowledge and values to lead a platoon of soldiers in their assigned specialisation, for which they receive specific training. The officer course covers areas such as:

- The basics of being a member of the Army
- Leadership and management skills
- First aid
- Navigation and communication
- Military strategy and field tactics
- Weapon and weapon systems operation
- Managing range practices
- Combat fitness
- Effective use of resources
- Soldier welfare
- Ceremonial duties

Specialist Service Officers – who join fully qualified in areas such as allied health, dentistry, engineering, medicine, nursing and teaching – complete a shorter course that concentrates on foundation military and officer skills.

Nationality

Australian citizen or permanent resident

> (Eligible to apply for citizenship)

Education

Completion of Year 12

Exact passes and any tertiary qualifications required vary by job and entry method.

Fitness

Sufficient general fitness to pass a Pre-entry Fitness Assessment (PFA)

You will need to complete a specific number of push-ups, sit-ups and achieve a certain level on the shuttle run (beep test).

The number of exercises depend on the role you're applying for.

To find out which requirements are relevant to you, visit the Army Health & Fitness webpage or speak to your Careers Coach.

57

The ADF Active app helps you assess your pre-entry fitness and guides you to the levels you need for the assessment.

Tips for sessions and assessments

Read more about what's involved and get handy preparation tips:

(How to join the Army)

Your commitment to the Army

Learn about the service required for the job you're interested in:

(Army <job title>

1

Job consideration

Find full details of each role by searching 'Army jobs' or visiting adfcareers.gov.au 2

Application

Apply online, call 13 19 01 or visit your local ADF Careers Centre, providing your contact details, academic achievements and any job preferences you have. 3

Your Opportunities Unlimited (YOU) session

At your local ADF Careers Centre, chat about your options with a Career Coach, take the Job Opportunities Assessment (JOA) and complete a medical questionnaire. 4

Assessment session

Undertake a medical assessment and attend psychological and job interviews to have your leadership, teamwork and other areas of potential assessed.

5

Officer selection board

Be interviewed by a panel of officers and a psychologist and participate in group and individual activities to have your leadership potential assessed. 6

Pre-entry Fitness Assesment (PFA)

You'll need to complete a PFA consisting of push-ups, sit-ups and a shuttle run (beep test). 7

Appointment day

Have a final medical check, join family and friends for the welcome ceremony, then head straight to training / education and an exciting new career as an Army Officer.

Take the ## next step

Find out more online

Learn more about the roles, lifestyle, opportunities and rewards on the Defence Jobs website: adfcareers.gov.au

Visit a recruiting centre

ADF Careers Centres are located across Australia. Find your nearest here: adfcareers.gov.au/centres

Chat with a recruiter

Call us on 13 19 01

Connect with us

f ADF Careers

(C) ADFCareers

in ADF Careers

► ADF Careers

ADFCareers

All information contained in this brochure is to the best of our knowledge accurate at the date of publication but may be subject to change after publication without notice. Persons intending to act on any information contained within this brochure should first check with their local ADF Careers Centre whether or not the information is still correct and accurate.

